Hi Sam,

I am returning to you in regards to internships with our family of companies. I would also like to introduce you to Marcus Stolpp, our corporate chef. Marcus brings a wealth of knowledge and a depth of experience that will certainly guide our f and b in the right direction as the company continues to grow. I have been informed that Jennifer and Marcus have recently discussed offering a couple internships during the summer. Their also may be a possibility of housing to create an attractive package for interns... who doesn't want to live at the beach! I will let Marcus take the ball from here and I do hope we can develop a relationship with the staff and students of CCI that may benefit all.

I look forward to seeing you at the beach soon,

John

THE STORY BEHIND OUR LOGO

Pacific City is the only wintering spot in the world of the Semidi Island Aleutian Cackling Geese. Each year, the geese fly south more than 2,000 miles from their small Alaskan nesting islands to Oregon's North Coast. Every evening during their annual Pacific City stay, they leave the grassy pastures in the Nestucca Valley and soar across a mile of ocean to roost on Haystack Rock—the same towering monolith that Headlands guests can see from their rooms and cottages. Our logo is reminiscent of these special birds because they capture our Headlands spirit: rugged, beautiful, and ready for adventure. We feel the same way about our geese as we do about our guests—eagerly awaiting their arrival, cherishing their stay with us, and looking forward to their eventual return.
